The sentence with “new applicable field” was the only comment RRC had on our draft. They added that sentence without “applicable”. As worded, I thought their version suggesting all new fields, not just those injecting into USDWs. I added applicable to show only some fields need AEs. I will call you when I get back in to discuss the letter further.

Thank you for the letter, and for continuing discussions with TX.

Once you are back in the office, can we go over this letter? The letter discusses oil fields authorized from the time of delegation, and then identifies that Texas will pursue AEs for new operations in “any new applicable field.” I also see that the state will submit a proposal for addressing the AEs at the time of delegation.

I’m not clear if your discussion also covered potential AEs between time of delegation and now. We’ve discussed that many of the TX oil fields are not in USDWs, though I don’t know if you’ve documented your discussions with the state on that. I’m also curious how the state defines “any new applicable field.”

Please let me know what time works for you.
